

sir george williams university montreal 25

Summer Institute in SOCIOLOGY
and
HISTORY
July 11-Aug. 23
1966

RAYMOND W. MACK

Northwestern University

Contemporary Sociological Theory

HANS O. MAUKSCH

Illinois Institute of Technology

Medical Sociology

JOHN M. MOGEY

Boston University

The Modern Community; The Family

FORREST E. LAVIOLETTE

Tulane University

Race and Culture

KAARE SYALASTOGA

University of Copenhagen, Denmark

Caste and Class Studies

JAMES BERTIN WEBSTER

University of Ibadan, Nigeria

The Historical Development of Social Change in Africa

PETER M. WORSLEY

University of Manchester, England

The Social History of Modern Britain

FOR DETAILS WRITE TO THE SECRETARY

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

MONTREAL

With its 2,000,000 people, Montreal is the second largest French city in the world. Its culture is a distinctive blend of French, British, and American customs and attitudes. Old historic buildings are mingled with the modern architecture of a large metropolis in a great port on the St. Lawrence River. The Laurentian Mountains and the Green Mountains of Vermont are only an hour's drive away.

HOUSING

The University does not operate student residences. It is, however, prepared to assist students in finding suitable lodgings, upon request.

RECREATION

The city of Montreal offers a wide variety of cultural and recreational opportunities. The Office of Student Affairs will be glad to furnish specific information about these and to make any arrangements that may be required. Registered students are also entitled to use the swimming and gymnasium facilities.

ADMISSION

Admission and registration are by mail and on a first-come first-served basis. Course enrollments will be limited.

These are third and fourth year undergraduate courses. Students will ordinarily take one or one and a half courses. Only in exceptional circumstances will a student be permitted to register for credit in two full courses.

A full course is the equivalent of six semester hours, lectures being two hours per day from Monday through Friday for six weeks. A half course is the equivalent of three semester hours, lectures being one hour per day from Monday through Friday for six weeks.

Students interested in exploring the relationship between historical and sociological approaches to the study of societies are particularly welcome. Prerequisites are listed with each course description. Students from other institutions are welcome and are expected to have comparable prerequisites. A transcript or letter from the appropriate institution should be submitted as documentation of prerequisites.

PREREQUISITES

Fees are one hundred dollars for a full course and fifty dollars for a half course.

FEES

A deposit of $25.00 per full course ($12.50 per half course) must accompany an application for admission and registration. This money will be credited to fees if an application is accepted. It will be refunded only if an application is refused.

Sir George students are reminded that they may not earn more than two course credits in one summer, regardless of the session in which the courses are taken.

NOTE

All application forms, inquiries, and correspondence concerning these courses should be addressed to:

ADDRESS

The Secretary
Department of Sociology
Sir George Williams University
1435 Drummond Street
Montreal 25, P.Q., Canada.

FORMER VISITING PROFESSORS

1964 Lewis A. Coser
 Brandeis University

 Rose Laub Coser
 Harvard Medical School

 Joseph H. Fichter, S.J.
 Loyola University of the South

 Robin M. Williams, Jr.
 Cornell University

1965 Helen MacGill Hughes
 Brandeis University

 Scott A. Greer
 Northwestern University

 Alfred R. Lindesmith
 Indiana University

 Jan Szczepanski
 University of Lodz, Poland

 Bernard E. Segal
 Dartmouth Medical School

 Kurt H. Wolff
 Brandeis University

Raymond W. Mack, Ph.D., a graduate of the University of North Carolina, is professor of sociology and chairman of the department of sociology at Northwestern University. He is associate editor of The Sociological Quarterly, has been a Faculty Research Fellow, Social Science Research Council, and consultant, Air Research Development Command. His many publications include Social Mobility: Thirty Years of Research and Theory with L. Freeman and S. Yellin, Sociology and Social Life with Kimball Young, Principles of Sociology with Kimball Young, Patterns of Minority Relations with T.S. Duster, and Race, Class and Power.

Contemporary Sociological Theory

The nature and principles of theoretical construction. Analysis of specific theories. Classical theories such as those of Durkheim, Simmel, and M. Weber are included, but the emphasis is on contemporary theorists, especially Parsons, Merton, Homans, Coser, and Goffman.

Sociology 424

Prerequisite: Two courses in Sociology

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:00 – 3:00

Visiting Professor:
Raymond W. Mack
Northwestern University

Hans O. Mauksch, Ph.D., a graduate of the University of Chicago, is dean of the College of Liberal Arts and professor of social science at the Illinois Institute of Technology. He has been Director of the Department of Patient Care Research at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago, where he has also taught in the School of Nursing. He has taught sociology in the University College of the University of Chicago and at the National College of Education. In addition to his many activities in research and planning in the health professions he has published many articles and contributed to several books, especially Skipper and Leonard, Eds., Social Interaction and Patient Care.

Medical Sociology

This course will analyze the significant systems of patient care. It will, thus, examine the function and structure of the modern hospital and the organization and roles of the relevant health professions. It will also analyze the role of the patient as a participant in institutional processes, as the carrier of disease or trauma, and as a case study of cultural patterns.

Sociology 431

Prerequisite: Introductory Sociology

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:00 – 11:00

Visiting Professor:
Hans O. Mauksch
Illinois Institute of Technology

John M. Mogey, D.Sc., a graduate of Queen's University of Belfast, is professor of sociology and chairman of the department of sociology and anthropology at Boston University. He has been a Rockefeller Fellow in 1954-55 and has taught at Queen's University (Belfast), University of Reading, Oxford University, University of Colorado, and Vanderbilt University where he was chairman of the sociology department. Among his many publications several bear on the courses he will be offering: Rural Life in Northern Ireland, Family and Neighbourhood, The Family in its Social Setting and The Sociology of Housing.

The Modern Community

The community as a matrix of social organization. Theoretical and methodological studies of communities.

Sociology 441

Prerequisite: Introductory Sociology

Half Course: Mon. to Fri. 11:00 – 12:00

The Family

The family as a unit of community structure; stability and disorganization of families. Theories for family research in sociology.

Sociology 442

Prerequisite: Introductory Sociology

Half Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:00 – 10:00

Visiting Professor:

John M. Mogey

Boston University

Race and Culture

A study of the manner in which racial and ethnic groups are re-defined by being renamed in the course of history; an analysis of the social, economic, and political relations between groups. The emphasis is historical and comparative.

Sociology 447

Prerequisite: Introductory Sociology or one course in History

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 10:00 – 12:00

Visiting Professor:
Forrest E. LaViolette
Tulane University

Forrest E. LaViolette, Ph.D., is a graduate of Reed College and the University of Chicago, and he is now head of the department of sociology-anthropology at Tulane University. He has taught at the Universities of Washington and McGill, and he has done research on Negroes in New Orleans, Japanese in North America, and Indians in British Columbia and South America. He has written many articles, research reports, and contributions to books, and in addition, is the author of Americans of Japanese Ancestry; A Study of Assimilation in the American Community and Canadian Japanese in World War II.

Caste and Class Studies

Theories to explain social inequality. Methods available for measuring social status. Five major models of social differentiation. The relationship between social status and life chance, life style, innovation, and deviation. Social mobility and the relationship between components of social differentiation and social change.

Sociology 444

Prerequisite: Introductory Sociology or
Modern History

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:00 – 3:00

Visiting Professor:

Kaare Svalastoga

University of Copenhagen, Denmark

Kaare Svalastoga, Ph.D., a graduate of the University of Washington, is head of the Sociological Institute at the University of Copenhagen. He studied history at the University of Oslo and sociology at the University of Chicago. He was a research associate at the Washington Public Opinion Laboratory and a guest lecturer at several universities in the U.S. and Europe. He is president of the Danish Union of Sociologists and editor of Sociologiske Meddelelser. Among his many publications Prestige, Class, and Mobility and Social Differentiation have appeared in English.

The Historical Development of Social Change in Africa

An historical approach to African social and economic change in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries with special attention to African attitudes and responses to the overseas slave trade, Christianity, the European conquest, and colonial administration.

History 492

Prerequisite: Modern History or Introductory Sociology or Introductory Anthropology

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:00 – 3:00

Visiting Professor:
James Bertin Webster
University of Ibadan, Nigeria

James Bertin Webster, Ph.D., studied at the University of British Columbia and at London University, and is now assistant professor in the department of history at the University of Ibadan. He is the editor of the Journal of the Historical Society of Nigeria, and of Tarikh, also published by that Society. His research interests include the history of West Africa and responses of African societies to European penetration. In addition to many articles he has published The African Churches among the Yoruba: 1888-1922 and a Select Bibliography on African History.

The Social History of Modern Britain

The social structure of British society and how it has been influenced by two world wars, the welfare state, and the coming of mass education.

History 434

Prerequisite: Modern History or
Introductory Sociology

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:00 – 11:00

Jointly sponsored by Sir George Williams
University and Loyola College.

Visiting Professor:
Peter M. Worsley
University of Manchester

Peter M. Worsley, Ph.D., studied at Cambridge, Manchester, and the Australia National University and is now professor of sociology in the department of social anthropology at the University of Manchester. He has travelled widely in India, Australia and Africa, and has also been Director of the Northern Research Centre for Community Studies in Saskatchewan. In 1955, he received the Curl Prize of the Royal Anthropological Institute and is on the editorial board of Past and Present. In addition to essays and articles he has published The Trumpet Shall Sound and The Third World.